Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 13 it is not understood what "well" represents as this term has not been explained.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4, 9 and 11-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Steeber et al. (U.S. Patent 5,601,180).

Steeber et al. show a pad 120 for a conveyor belt 154 having a wear indicator extending from a first interior surface to a point adjacent a second contact surface whereby wearing exposes the wear indicator (see column 7, lines 12-22 and Figures 12 and 13).

Re claim 4, the indicator extends out to the second wear surface.

Re claim 9, shown are a plurality of wear indicators 138.

Re claim 11, as the pad wears more of the indicator is exposed.

Re claim 12, the indicator is narrowest at the second surface.

Re claim 13, the depressions between indicators 138 are well's.

Re claim 14, column 10, line 34 discloses round indicators.

Claims 2, 3, 5-8 and 10 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to James R Bidwell at telephone number (703)308-1144.
